MEMBER GUIDE

Welcome!

WE'RE SO GLAD YOU'RE HERE!

Welcome to ARO! We are honored to have you as a member. By becoming an ARO member, you have joined the world's largest multi-disciplinary professional association dedicated to understanding how the auditory and balance systems functions and finding new treatments to improve patients' lives. With its home base in the United States, ARO has 2,200 members located in universities, medical centers, research institutes and biotech industries throughout the world. You're going to love being a member of our exciting and innovative association.

As a member, here are some of the benefits you will receive:

- Deeply discounted registration to the ARO MidWinter Meeting
- Exclusive access to our member directory
- Archived videos of Presidential symposium lectures
- Archived recent emails to members
- Online subscription to the JARO – Journal of the Association for Research in Otolaryngology
- And more!

Throughout this membership guide, you will find information detailing all of your member benefits, ways to stay up to date with the association, opportunities to engage with ARO, and our leadership. If you are a graduate student, medical student, postdoctoral fellow or young investigator, there are many opportunities to engage through our spARO (students and postdocs of ARO) organization. Please browse the document at your convenience and let us know if you have any questions. Our Executive Office is more than happy to help you maximize your ARO membership!

Again, welcome! On behalf of the ARO Council, thank you for making ARO your professional membership home.

Sincerely,

John Oghalai

John Oghalai, MD
ARO President

Call for Writers: JARO Research News

spARO is looking for writers for our new section spARO research news highlights. Articles authored by spARO members are ~400 words viewpoints/summaries of JARO articles. The viewpoints are published on the JARO and ARO websites, see below:

- <https://aro.org/news/jaro-research-news/>
- <http://www.jaro-online.org/pages/Highlights/>

This is a great opportunity to hone your writing skills. As you write, you will be paired with an experienced editor for feedback on your article. It is also a fantastic chance to contribute to science and a useful data-point for your CV.

If you are interested in writing please provide your name, email address, and details of the JARO article you would like to review using the below form and you will be contacted soon.
